Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on September 24, 2004 has been entered.

Claim Objections

Claim 23 is objected to because it is unclear how the first and second ink areas join at the borderline while the first and second ink areas “do not intermingle with one another” as required by claim 1.

Claim Rejections - 35 U.S.C. § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -
(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 3 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Hutton et al. (US 4,033,059).

With respect to claim 1, Hutton et al. teaches a data medium 11 having an image 12 which includes a first ink area 14a and a second ink area 14 b (Hutton et al., Figs.1,3,10 and 15) and the ink layer thicknesses of the ink areas 14a and 14b are different and separated by a sharp border line between the ink layers' areas. With respect to claim 20, Hutton et al. teaches the ink areas which are linear (Figs. 12-15, ink area lines 53 and 55).

Art Unit: 2854

Claim Rejections - 35 U.S.C. § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) a patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2, 20 and 23 rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 103 (a) as being unpatentable over Hutton et al. (US 4,033,059).

Hutton et al. teaches all that is claimed, except for the minimum in the region of the border line on which the ink layer thickness of both ink areas passes through is almost zero. However, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to select a desired ink viscosity in the Hutton et al. so that the desired result can be obtained such as the inks can be allowed to pass through the area in the region between the ink layer areas 53 and 55 of the Hutton et al. for easier of printing different ink layers which are directly adjacent to each other. With respect to claim 23, Fig.3 of Hutton et al. shows the border line 22 between the ink areas 14a and 14, and Fig. 15 shows a border line 53 and 55 on which the ink areas do not intermingle with one another.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-3,20 and 23 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Applicant argues that Hutton et al. does not teach the structure as recited in claims 1,3,20 and 23 and that the limitations "directly adjacent" and "acute and discrete" as required in claim 1 have not been properly considered.

However, as explained above, Figures 12-14 of Hutton et al. which show the embodiments which read on the structure as argued by applicant that there is a clearance between the adjacent in areas as required by claim 1. It is clearly that Hutton et al. teaches the first and second ink layers having different thicknesses which are separated but "direct adjacent" to one another so that the neighboring ink areas do not intermingle with one another as recited. Therefore, it is believed that the rejections are proper and the prior art applied meets the structure as recited in claims 1, 3, 20 and renders obvious the structure recited by the claims 2, 20 and 23.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 24-27 are allowed.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: The prior art of record does not teach the data medium having a plurality of depressions defined on a second side, the depression generally corresponding to one of the first and second ink areas on a first side, the first and second ink areas having different ink layer thicknesses that are directly adjacent to each other and separated from each other by an acute and discrete border line.
